

About Parkway

Parkway Cinemas is an independent cinema chain, established in 1983 by Gerald and Denise Parkes, with a long-standing commitment to offering a diverse range of films and fostering community engagement. Over the years, Parkway has expanded its operations to include multiple locations across the UK, including Cleethorpes, Louth, Barnsley, Beverley, and Workington. Each venue in the chain upholds the same core values of providing a welcoming environment for both mainstream and independent films, as well as a wide range of cultural events.

Parkway Cinema Beverley

As part of this independent chain, Parkway Cinema Beverley, located in the Flemingate Shopping Centre, stands out as one of the premier venues for cinema lovers in East Riding of Yorkshire. Opening its doors in December 2015, Parkway Beverley has quickly become a key cultural hub, offering a variety of films that range from popular family blockbusters to more daring and experimental works. With six screens, seating capacities ranging from 83 to 261 per screen, and a total capacity of 980 seats, the venue offers a state-of-the-art viewing experience.

In addition to regular film screenings, Parkway Cinema Beverley hosts Event Cinema performances, bringing live opera, ballet, and theatre to the big screen, as well as its much-loved annual Christmas pantomime. The venue also supports the community by offering live shows, birthday parties, and private hire services, creating a space where more than just films are enjoyed. Its commitment to exceptional service and genuine hospitality ensures that every visitor feels welcome.

Across all Parkway venues, there is a strong emphasis on promoting independent filmmaking. This commitment is reflected in the Dolby Digital 7.1 surround sound and 4K cinema projection offered at Parkway Beverley, where films are showcased in their best possible form, whether they are indie gems or major productions.

Parkway Cinema Beverley's dedication to independent cinema aligns with its mission to celebrate bold and creative filmmaking. With Parkway's legacy of nurturing diverse and underrepresented voices in film, the venue provides the ideal platform to spotlight new talent and push the boundaries of cinematic storytelling.
